TEMPLE OF PHARMACY.

Description

OF

H. T. HELMBOLD'S

TEMPLE OF PHARMACY.

A Bewildering Spectacle—The Greatest Soda Fountain in the World—An Enchanting Parlor—The Finest Warehouse in America.

The Magnificent Temple of Pharmacy of H. T. Helmbold, on Broadway, is beyond question the finest and most attractive establishment of its kind in New York. It is one of those places which exceed the eye of the public by, and compel him to stop and examine for, at least whether he will. It is marked by the striking architecture of beauty, and there is a certain indefinite fascination about it. The combined result of an enchanting body, in the arrangement of the various articles exposed for sale, and a delightful harmony of color.

One also from the sidewalk, and on a level with the floor of the establishment, is a parterre of white marble, including the whole length of the front, and relieved by diamond figures, consisting of small rose, blood and yellow blocks of the same material. The windows, which are light and elastic, are with the doors, composed of half sheets of French plate glass; and as we enter the store, especially by sun-light, the whole scene bursts upon us the most splendid fairy creation. The eye is dazzled by the series of magnificent crystal chandeliers which hang from the centre of the underpinned ceiling in a long perspective of flashing light, in thousands the immense colors from one end to the other, of all fitting, from Broadway into Crosby-st. No model is complete in any part, for the whole are covered with ground glass globes and even the pendant chains are of cut crystal, and were imported from Paris expressly.

The first floor has been most tastefully fitted up, by Mr. Helmbold as the hottest and finest Retail Drug Depot, ever in the world.

On both sides are ranged richly shown with the most lovely articles of Parisian fabric, which the keen Dealer has purchased in the most favorable terms before the closing of the Intergovernal city. He invited to this from time to time any trifles which women love to collect around their toilet tables, and has reaped a fabulous profit for his shrewdness.

At the end of these cases comes an oval space well known to the County as palmier time. Here is the ice de water fountain, the largest in the world.

The marble counter is an artistic work. The plate on which the founding debate are presented is of French ray-al fed, and the other are of Italian white Carrara with superimposed tablets of serpentine, shaped like diamonds, and small diamond facets. At the top is a covering of honeycomb, a graceful marble with red cubes and purple blotches, and there are pilasters of the same at equal distances, with capitals of wild boar. The finish is of burnished.

The roof itself is of mirrors, and is shaped like a Moslem Church. The base is of Tennessee marble, black, with large yellow moldings. The whole cost $15,000. This part is lighted with four corner pendants, of the same exquisite crystal, terminating in a pressed glass ornament of a lotus flower, and a central one, larger and more elaborate and equally beautiful. This favorite spot is protected by two fixtures in bronze, a Moorish youth and maiden, copies from the old palaces of the Abencerrages in the Alhambra, and exquisite specimens of artistic skill.

On each side there are cases filled with toilet articles in Bohemian glass and porcelain, and beyond, marking the entrance to the ladies' parlor, are two bronze figures—Diana and one of her nymphs. These are superbly executed on tripods of Pompeiian structure, in vert antique and bronze, classical and charming, and remarkable for the clearness and sharpness of the moulding.

The walls extending over half the retail hall are adorned all along the ceiling by the first two pillars with a series of twenty-eight mounted urchins, fourteen on each side. These rest upon an elaborate Cornelian, supported by classic pillars, with ornamented capitals overlaid with gold, and the roof also is richly painted and frosted with gold. The shelves are divided into a number of ranges, each of which is backed by flamed mirrors. Then come the counters, eight in all, composed of solid marble throughout, the top slabs supported by richly carved brackets stained with gold, and having two square compartments on the side faces, each of which bears the inscription "H. T. H."

Connected with the establishment is an enchanted saloon which the beyond. The carpet is elegantly beautiful, and was made specially for the Doctor in England. It is styled Imperial Axminster, and is of such scale by at least long. It has no perhaps subject, but is in perfect harmony with the main subject: and its garlands and flowers. Its geometric scrawl and beautiful figures are so arranged as to harmonize with the 594 BROADWAY, N.Y. COR. BROADWAY & 3OTH ST., N.Y.

Many consumers, since the work with, cover of ornament with ordered to the rear on Crosby street. There are Confidence, with added foliage, the columns being four, brownie in color, with white capitals and bases, which are both shady silt, supporting elaborate counter and vastly plain pictures from floor to ceiling, and encircling the entire length of the store. Third and upon an elaborate moulding, with ornamental capitals overlook with gold. The walls are white, with panels having broad borders in exquisite arabesques, very rarely gilt, alternating in light and dark tints. The fairies are divided into a number of ranges, each of which is backed by heavy plate mirrors.

The delicately shaded is massive, and perfect specimen. It is of carved walnut, held in decorative, but not overlook with ornament. In parts it is relieved by some lighter wood. Around the panels are bits of Asiatic marble, the color purple, inclined with gray, the base a dark black. The plain surface is gas fire, the fires which excite so much interest in the vestibule of the Grand Opera House.

On the mantelpiece are handsome bronzes. In the centre is a clock which is surmounted with flowers, and supported by Three Graces. Two Cupids sport on the top of the clock and make mock at time. On each side of this charming centre piece are two figures, equal in sterling workmen of France of the seventeenth century, and evidently, by their mien, belonging to those times. Above the marble remarks on Statues of Cardinal Richelieu. Besides the chimney piece, on tall and handsome pedestals, are two more bronzes, representing Louis XI. and Etienne Dolorets, made familiar to American readers in the pages of "Quentin Durward."

Up in the corner is the long path and mountain sunblind, where lady visitors who wish to leave parcels of great value can be accommodated. Near at hand is another feature, mirrors and toilet table for receiving pedestal, the whole in black walnut. But this will not be patronized, for opposite is the chimney piece is a huge plate mirror nine feet high and six feet wide, which will probably claim the undivided attention of the fair visitors. On each side of this are large cases in black walnut, filled with beautiful toilet articles, as well arranged that they seem rather stand there for ornament than for sale. In the centre are a reading table and lamp, the latter in bronze, and shaped like an Oriental vase.

Around are chairs of most inviting cushions, and the various shapes and sizes. Some are of mirrors, bearing the mystic monogram of H. T. H.: others are in brocatelle, cotinon, and corn cloth. The seats are cloth-shaped, and the cushions are partly of brocatelle, partly of embroidered silk.

On handsome easels are two portraits, one of the Donor, the other of his magnificent six-in-hand Drag. There are also two bas-reliefs, one Hiawatha's Famine Vocation, but equal in its reputation; the other "Dr. Kane' view of Coney Island, a splendid sea piece painted with great beauty and vigor.

This is a rapid outline of the reception room, which is intended for the comfort of those obliged to wait while the prescriptions they desire to purchase are being prepared. In connection with it is the ladies' laundry and toilet, which is fitted up in the handiest of style possible for the accommodation of ladies in arranging their toilet; and, in fact, for all other conveniences that may be desired.

Beyond the contracted region of the ladies' parlor, laundry and toilet, is the readings department, where the carpet is no longer Axminster, but a yielding fabric, of a warm, neutral tint, without a pattern. The columns here are fewer, and support tall mirrors, which are placed at an angle of fifteen degrees, and flash back the scenes of hustle and enterprise displayed. Between these columns are long cases covered with all those preparations for which Dr. Helmbold is famous, all ready for re-packages and ready for examination.

The remaining portions of the walls, from the first pillars to the parlor, which divides the retail store from the prescribing room, are stained with an elegant French grey, upon which is painted, in a very beautiful and elaborate Moorish style of the most exquisite sort, a series of immense bouquets in double and broad panels. There are also five elegant Gasaliers above the first high, and an equal distance apart, copiously throughout their lots. of perfumed Cologne bottles, and behind the air cushions with the most fascinating names.

Our trade of Helmbold's Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla, which is thought unequaled by any other of the kind, has made it necessary to increase the facilities for the manufacture of water extracts both celebrated, Jubilee Fluid Extract of Sarsaparilla and Compound Fluid Extract of Cubebs and Copaiba, which are prepared for fellow and women.

The Commodore's Saloon is for the Public himself, and is a neat, pretty room, but most modest in the fashions of the entire establishment. There is a very handsome toilet, which is remarkably well furnished and which the bashful gentleman is by no means shall be deterred by its splendor.

The upper portion is used for Wholesale Business, while down in the basement and cellar is the Laboratory for the manufacture of his celebrated preparations, and, in fact, a general chemical laboratory for preparing the various articles used in the retail drug business such as Toilet Waters, Colognes, Hair Tonics, Pomades, Tooth Powders, Washes, etc.

There is no Drug Store in the world more beautifully and luxuriously furnished, than this valuable acquisition to our Broadway attractions.

The blaze of light from the windows, charged with the brilliant colors of the liquid in the large globes, add vanity to the attraction of the scene by night, and illuminate the adjacent walls and counters with a surprising brilliancy of crimson, purple, green and amber.—New York Times.

BRANCH

ESTABLISHMENTS.

United, but unanimously, by the success that has hitherto rewarded him, Dr. Helmbold respectfully announces that establishments early in the present year. One of these will be in this city—the other will be in Philadelphia. The new one in the city is to be under the Girard House, at the corner of Twenty-third-st. and Broadway. It is rather what has hitherto been used as a refectory room of the Continental Hotel, and is 60 feet front by 70 deep. The first or southward story is to be leased by Mr. Helmbold, and is to be fitted up in the most elegant manner

A LEGISLATIVE QUESTION IN CHICAGO.

A fortnight or more ago the Illinois House of Representatives passed a joint resolution to submit to the people, at the ensuing election, November 14, in the city of Chicago, for the consideration of the people there, a question which cannot be acted on at this session. The Senate yesterday took up the resolution and adopted it by a vote of 27 yeas against 15 nays. The action of the Legislature is now in Chicago and will be called by no name, either of party or person, but simply of city government, on legislative delegation enacted to that end.

Indeed, very little has been done to inform the people, or, indeed, that they will be so informed, but to accomplish the object without attracting special attention. The question which interests Chicagoans more than any other is the question of the future of this city, which various campaigners are swift to subjoin. The Chicago press has said very little on the subject, and have promised nothing at all. The Chicago delegation in the Legislature has done little who can give neither time, labor, nor money for the use in which it felt interested in their legislative sessions and proceedings. They remain as to lay before non-tenths of the people of the State good and trustworthy reports of all that may be said or said in both branches of the State, and of the action of the Legislature in the municipal measures or suppressing the famous and re-mostly of members or seconds of their constituents, or any other proceedings of the Legislature, and to solicit the aid and favor of the General Assembly, so that they always henceforth may be found in the right place. Of course, in consideration of the two-thirds of the people who, after mature reflection, have resolved to accept the invitation. We make this plain statement in order that the public may understand the history of the whole case

Crop Prospects and Probable Yield of Grain.

The Fair-Crittenden Murder Trial.

Travel to the Yosemite.

Arizona and the Apaches.

[Special correspondence.]

San Francisco, April 1.

Since my last, we in California have been alternately encouraged with the prospect of an abundant harvest and depressed with the fear of lasting none at all, as the rains fell, or the drying winds swept over the country.

At present the case stands about as follows: In the upper valley of the San Joaquin there will be 50 crops of barley, wheat, or corn, with the exception of a small district in the immediate vicinity of Visalia, where any rain at all during July will be a misfortune.

The winter has been so dry, too, that feed has already failed, and many cattle are perishing, while large stock-raisers are driving their herds to the mountains, or more distant and favored localities, where there has been rain enough to start the grass.

In Los Angeles and San Diego Counties the crops will be good. All along the coast counties have been favored, and the crops look well. Sonoma County, one of the great grain counties, has had rain enough to insure good crops, while all summer-fallowed and early-plowed lands, in Napa, one of the best wheat-county in the State, the crops were got in early and look well. The counties on the Sacramento River, from Colusa to Yolo, have had rain enough to insure crops, and no serious reverse will fall on any except such as will be the result of bad farming. In the Tulare Valley, the Sacramento River between that city and Colusa, and the San Joaquin River, from the city of the same name to Stockton, the crops are looking splendidly, and will be good to very large. All this region is already in the front rank as a grain-growing country, and every year will have more and more land under cultivation.

All this region is already in the front rank as a grain-growing country, and every year will have more and more land under cultivation.

In short, the prospect is that California will have a large crop, and that the farmers will be prosperous and happy, instead of, as they were in 1870, in debt and discouraged. The reason why the crops will probably be a good one is, that the rains were generally well distributed, and the dry weather has not been long enough to seriously injure the spring crops.

THE FAIR-CRITTENDEN MURDER TRIAL.

Up to the end of the progress of the trial of Mrs. Laura A. Fair for the murder of A. P. Crittenden, on the 2d of December last, by shooting him through the brain, on the Oakland ferry-boat, the case stands as follows: The prisoner is charged with the murder of the fullest outrages. Every day the papers of California and the rest of the country, and every mail brings to us more of fresh outrages perpetrated by the Modoc Indians of Northern California and Southern Oregon. Hardly a week passes that we do not hear of the murder of settlers in the frontier counties, or of the plundering of their property, and the burning of their houses. Many of the victims have been women and children, and the most horrible outrages have been committed upon them. Not a week passes that we do not hear of the murder of settlers in the frontier counties, or of the plundering of their property, and the burning of their houses. Many of the victims have been women and children, and the most horrible outrages have been committed upon them.

The Modoc war is commonly one of the topics of conversation, and it is hardly necessary to say that the people of this State are unanimously in favor of the most vigorous measures for the punishment of the Modocs, and the permanent removal of the tribe from the State. The Modocs are the most notorious Indians in California, and the people have long been anxious to get rid of them. Their removal to Arizona, and their punishment for their outrages, will be a great relief to the people of Northern California. Special Despatch to The Chicago Tribune.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., April 12.—The Board of Di-rectors of the Mount Carmel Cemetery Association and Commercial Society have completed the preparation of the plat of premises for the next annual sale of lots, which will be held in a few days. The grounds are beautifully situated, and are rapidly coming into favor as a place of interment. The association has expended a large amount of money in improving the grounds, and has now a force of men at work. The sale will be a very desirable one, and will be held in a few days.

The Board of Trustees of the Illinois Institution for the Education of the Blind met yesterday, and elected Mr. Thomas Worthington, of Jacksonville, Superintendent of the Institution, to succeed Mr. Lee, whose term of office expires on the 1st of May. Mr. Worthington has been a resident of Jacksonville for many years, and is well known throughout the State. He is a man of fine business qualifications, and will make a good officer. Mr. Worthington will be a member of the Board of Trustees of the Institution, and will therefore have a voice in the management of the affairs of the Institution. The Board of Trustees is composed of the following gentlemen: Hon. Thomas Worthington, Jacksonville; Hon. Thomas Dunn, Mount Carmel; Hon. Thomas Hall, Jacksonville; Hon. Thomas Hall, Jacksonville; Hon. Thomas Hall, Jacksonville
